Justin Barbour is a partner at Schmoyer Reinhard LLP. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Barbour was an associate in the commercial litigation section of Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP.

Experience

Mr. Barbour's practice is devoted to representing management in all aspects of labor and employment law. Mr. Barbour represents employers of all sizes, from start-ups to some of America's largest companies, as well as non-profit and governmental entities.

Mr. Barbour prides himself on identifying efficient, cost-effective solutions to his client's employment matters. To achieve these goals, he regularly counsels, advises, and provides training on both traditional and emerging employment issues, as well as on workplace policy and legal compliance issues.

In addition Mr. Barbour represents management in both state and federal courts, as well as in private arbitrations. His litigation experience includes the following:

- Claims alleging violations of Title VII, the ADA, ADEA, and state law analogs,
- Alleged violations of Family and Medical Leave Act,
- Fair Labor Standards Act claims, including collective actions,
- Claims for workers' compensation retaliation,
- Breach of contract claims, including both enforcement and defense of agreements not to compete or solicit, and
- Lawsuits enjoining threatened workplace violence and related threatening behaviors.

In addition to this extensive litigation experience, Mr. Barbour also has significant experience in representing his clients in administrative proceedings before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, Department of Labor, and Texas Workforce Commission.

Mr. Barbour is Board Certified in Labor and Employment Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization.

In law school, Mr. Barbour was a member of the Texas Journal on Civil Liberties & Civil Rights.
